

On the Boards

The Philadelphia Youth Orchestra, a nonprofit community music education and youth orchestra performance organization founded in 1939, has named the following members to its board of trustees:

Andrew Abruzzese, owner of A.P. Abruzzese Painting Inc. and the Pineville Tavern.

James M. Matour, chairman of the bankruptcy department at Hangley Aronchick Segal Pudlin & Schiller and a member of the firm's board of directors.

Sharon McGinley, founder and executive director of Eddie's House and president of the McGinley Family Foundation.

David Michie, founder of David Michie Violins L.L.C. of Philadelphia.

Walter M. Strine Jr., president of Hamilton Reserve Insurance Co., Ltd. and director and officer of Strine Family Foundations.

Judith M. Persichilli has been named to a three-year term on the board of the American Hospital Association's Health Care Systems Governing Council. She is president and CEO of Catholic Health East, Newtown Square.

CareKinesis Inc., a Moorestown provider of personalized medication management and pharmacy services for high-risk populations, has elected Gordon Tunstall and Albert Zezulinski to its board.

Tunstall is the founder of Tunstall Consulting Inc. Zezulinski had been executive vice president, health services for the NCO Group and

Albert Zezulinski

Gordon Tunstall

Stella Tsai

Doug Stanger

remains a consultant to the company in public policy.

The Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce said Daniel K. Fitzpatrick will serve as its chairman beginning October 2012. Fitzpatrick, a commercial banking executive with more than 20 years of experience, is president and CEO of Citizens Bank and RBS Citizens for Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

Doug Stanger has been appointed to the board of the Eastern Pennsylvania/Delaware Regional Office of the Anti-Defamation League, a nonprofit organization that combats anti-Semitism and other forms of bigotry and promotes civil rights. He will also chair the Atlantic/Cape May County Steering Committee. Stanger is a shareholder at Flaster/Greenberg, Cherry Hill.

Stella Tsai, a partner with Archer & Greiner P.C. in Philadelphia, was appointed chair of the Philadelphia Bar Association's Diversity in the Profession Committee for 2012 by Bar Association Chancellor John Savoth.

Mission Kids, a Norristown nonprofit organization that works to ease the criminal justice process for abused children in Montgomery

County, has elected the following members to its board:

Michael A. Valucci, principal at LarsonAllen L.L.P.

Michael B. Greenly, first vice president - investments, at UBS Financial Services.

Joseph W. Marshall 3d, vice chairman at Griffin Holdings Group L.L.C.

Kevin Kelly, president of Leon N. Weiner & Associates in Wilmington, was elected second vice chairman of the National Association of Home Builders, an industry trade group, for 2012.

Gerard J. Criner has been named chair of the Department of Medicine at Temple University School of Medicine. Criner, director of pulmonary and critical care medicine, and director of the Temple Lung Center, succeeds Jose Missri, who has served as interim chair since July.

Tangent Energy Solutions Inc., a Kennett Square firm that is developing sustainable-energy strategies, has elected John C. Weber Jr. to its board. He is a founding partner at Laurel Capital Partners. Weber joined Tangent's board as Laurel Capital's representative after the firm led a recent investment in Tangent.